

The Motivation Habit Reseller Terms

You will have a Lifetime resale license to the program when you order.

You may not sell rights of any kind to anyone else, you may only sell access to your ebook or video member's area to end users only.

You are free to edit anything in any way you wish including the graphics, the videos or text in the course. We have included all of the source files we have so edit in any way you wish.

This product may be sold as a standalone product it may be added to any member's area you currently run and it may also be used as a bonus to any other product but it may not be given away for free. It must be sold.

You are not purchasing these rights you are licensing them and anyone breaking these terms will have their license revoked without refund and be required to stop all future of this product.

These are super simple terms put in place to keep this a premium product, thank you in advance for selling with integrity.

You are free to edit anything you want or just sell access as is, it's up to you. If I were you though at minimum I would personally rebrand it and call it something other than "The Motivation Habit" Obviously this takes a little bit of work to rebrand a product. We are available for hire if you wish to have us rebrand it for you, contact us for details.

If you have any problems or questions please contact me for support I am happy to help, this is a premium product and premium support is included.
